FOOTBALL DYNAMO WINS NATIONAL CUP

Moscow Dynamo have won their sixth national cup by beating Leningrad Zenit 2-0 this Sunday in the 40th cup final to date.

Football specialists never draw parallels between national championships and cup games. The mood is totally different in the latter; every one of them is decisive, as the lesser drops out.

Now Dynamo will have to do better in the championship, for it is not fitting for cup holders to be at the bottom of the standings. It is high time for them, too, to give thought to their part in the Cup Holders Cup, whose first games will be played already this September.

FRANCE OR SPAIN?

In the first European football championship semifinal game in Franco the hosts beat Portugal 3-2, while Denmark lost to Spain in a penalty shoot-out in the second one. France and Spain will clash in the final game at the Parc des Princes stadium on June 27.

Success for Cuba

The Cuban men's volleyball team beat the second Soviet team 3-1 in their closing match to win, for the first time yet, the Vladimir Sosulin International memorial ended in Vilnius, capital of Lithuania. The guests suffered not a single defeat even though they had to contend with the Olympic and world champions. Earlier all six such events were won by the USSR.

Chess: grand spectacle on

In the first round of the match between the USSR and the rest of the world all games have been completed. Kasparov drew with Timman, Petroshevsky—with Korchnoi, Vaganian—with Bibit, Tal with Nunn and Yuapov with Miles. Sosolov lost in Torre. Four games were adjourned.

WIN FOR A START

The USSR women's basketball team beat China in Peking 82-68 in their first friendly game. Top Soviet scorer Olga Subbotina netted 22 points. The USSR also won the second game, 81-57.

At the Friendship Tournament

Many-time European champion and world championship prizewinner, Valentin Popova and other top table-tennis players among them Narine Antyan, Plyura, Sulikova, Anna Zakharyan, and Andrei Mazurov, award winners at major international contests, are on the national team which will be competing in the International Friendship Tournament in Pyongyang on July 2-8. The tournament is on the calendar of international meets planned prior to and immediately following the 1984 Summer Olympics in the socialist countries, where Olympic committees were forced to decline participation in the Los Angeles Games owing to the anti-Soviet campaign in the USA.

The tournament will be a big event for table tennis, which, as is known, is now an Olympic sport. Over 80 national delegations are expected to participate.

METALLURG SURGES AHEAD

In a recent 20th USSR motor-ball championship top division game last Saturday Metallurg from the town of Vidyey outside Moscow clashed with the Niva team from the Poltava Region.

Metallurg won 2-1 to capture the lead in the championship. Our players did well their homework and played an aggressive game which the opponents failed to foil, said Metallurg head coach Valery Matyayev. Motorball is a technical sport, and success depends in large measure on the skills of the team's mechanics. Our job is a fine job of work.

RAIN SPOILS THINGS

Nature triumphed in the last stage of the world Formula 1 motor racing championship. Pironi came first, followed by Brazilian, Ayrton Senna da Silva driving a McLaren, and Stefan Bellof of West Germany, who drove Tyrrell with a conventional internal combustion engine rather than a turbine engine as was the case with the rest of the field.

Pironi leads after six stages with 20.5 points, his teammate Niki Lauda comes second with 10, and René Arnoux of France, in a Ferrari, third with 14.5 points.

This stage counts towards both the drivers' and constructors' championship. A unique decision was made to award drivers and firms only 50 per cent of the points they scored depending on their placing.

In the constructors' championship the leader is McLaren with 40.5 points, followed by Pironi with 23.5 and Renault with 20.

Bulgaria, Hungary, the Korean People's Democratic Republic, Poland, Romania, Czechoslovakia, and the USSR-I and the USSR-II teams are taking part in the Druzhba Internationale women's tournament of socialist nations.

Earlier regard the route they took up the south-east wall as technically fairly difficult.

Here are snapshots of some games by our correspondent Andrey Koyzhev.

Hamas. To pool the efforts of African countries in their quest for national development and stronger economic independence is envisaged in an agreement setting up a preferential trade zone for East and South Africa. The signing of the document concluded the summit conference of the participating countries.

In accordance with the agreement, within the zone, which now incorporates 14 states, tariffs for a number of goods and industrial products are to be considerably reduced and it is planned to keep on expanding the list. A single monetary unit has been introduced for the convenience of those countries trading within the zone.

Zone members have decided to organize free cargo transit within the zone, to set up a regional bank for trade and development, and plan to integrate their industries. In particular steel-making, iron and the manufacture of armaments and munitions are to be considered a "dangerous eco-

The governments of those countries, who said, should have stopped their activity aimed at subverting India's territorial integrity. The head of the Indian Government pointed out that extremist groupings consisting of religious fanatics,

VIEWPOINT

The goal of Washington—destabilization of Asia

What is the connection between the events in Indian Punjab and the continuous boasting of American military presence east of Suez?

Here is the answer: the policies of official Washington from Eastern Mediterranean to South-East Asia aim at gradual destabilization of this vast region and subordination of it to the political and economic control of the USA on the basis of military strength. In this one can well see the general scheme of this policy of arming the security of separate regions and filling the resulting vacuum with the armed forces of the USA and its "client-states".

Acting within the framework of this scheme, Washington managed to undermine the role of Egypt in the non-aligned movement, thus strengthening US military positions in the Middle East. Simultaneously Washington has made Israel a tool of its criminal imperial policy, turning it into a regional policeman over the Arab states.

The creation of new American military bases in Oman, Somalia, Kenya and Pakistan also produced an immediate sharp escalation of the overall situation in the Persian Gulf. Washington is clearly trying to extend now the military police regime to this region, too. Meanwhile it is clear that the events of the last few weeks in the Indian state of Punjab are also directly linked with the US policies aimed at destabilizing the entire situation in South-West Asia.

The escalation in the activities of the Sikh separatists is connected by political observers with the beginning of horrendous American military deliveries to Pakistan. The anti-Indian bias of the American-Pakistani cooperation in the military field has become the nutritive solution which stimulates the growth of extremist actions of separatists in some states of this country.

And even though the government of Indira Gandhi has dealt a crushing blow to their plots, the very threat facing India has not yet disappeared. Under the so-called "Brahmaputra" plan

WHO ARE TERRORISTS?

There is a proverb that if God wants to punish someone, he gives him a reason. I believe that this applies to the Reagan administration which has declared war on "international terrorism".

This war was said by Secretary-General of the African National Congress of South Africa Albie Sachs who was commanding International Conference on the situation in some West European countries and Japan.

Whatever screen the imperialist circles might use to camouflage their genuine plans — "communist threat" or "international terrorism", from which they allegedly want to save entire mankind, what they are actually engaged in is an attempt to stop the historical process of renovation at the world. However, the world colonial system has collapsed. The last vestiges of this system will be razed from the face of the Earth, particularly in South Africa.

With the talk of "international terrorism", the ruling circles of the United States are trying to camouflage their course of "state terrorism" which they are pursuing in the Middle East and in Central America, trampling underfoot the standards of international behaviour. However, the stakes in military force will not bring about the results they desire. The will of the peoples for freedom is stronger than guns and bayonets, said Alfred Nzo in his speech.

© The Senate of the American Congress has voted against authorizing 4.4 million dollars for the expansion of two American military bases in Honduras. This money, requested by the Reagan administration as part of the 1985 budget, was intended for the construction of new ammunition and armaments depots at the San Lorenzo and Palmerola bases.

The Sandinista armed forces have seized a large gang of Cuban mercenaries in the area of San Juan de Sacatépeque, in the department of Jinotega. During the fighting which lasted more than a month, 270 odd Sandinistas were killed, hundreds wounded, and large quantities of US-made weapons and ammunition seized. This defeat marks the elimination of the bulk of the counter-revolutionaries in the south of the country.

The All-Nation Day of Action Against the Conqueror of Japan into the Arena of Nuclear Warfare was held in a number of cities and towns in the country. In Tokyo, Kyoto, Sapporo and other cities, mass rallies and demonstrations were staged. Their participants have demanded cancellation of the Japanese-American military alliance dangerous for the cause of peace and holding at the democratic transformations in the country. In the photo: "No to the Deployment of the Tomahawk", "No to War and Nuclear Armaments", "Down With the Japanese-American Security Treaty"—with such slogans did the demonstrators go out into the streets of Tokyo.

Montevideo. The UN Conference on the Human Environment has been held here in which 29 Asian and North American countries took part, including the USA and other socialist countries.

Your intervention, you can stop his delinquency destruction. Don't let a cent man die!

The conference which was opened by the UN Economic Commission for Europe followed the resolution that international cooperation in the important field of environmental protection contributes towards stronger peace and security in Europe and in the world as a whole, a very telling factor in favour of environmental protection.

We are convinced of our position to effect change in the conflict in which he is being held — cell upon the judicial committee of the Trial Act at the Helsinki Accords and the final document of the Madrid Meeting. The resolution adopted by the conference establishes a mutual exchange between environmental protection problems and the realization of peace and in others.

An important practical result of the conference is the increase in the number of countries which have declared their readiness and intention of achieving within the next ten years a 30 per cent reduction in pollution of the atmosphere, and above all, of sulphurous compounds.

International security. The conference admits, it is stressed in the resolution, that international cooperation in the important field of environmental protection contributes towards stronger peace and security in Europe and in the world as a whole, a very telling factor in favour of environmental protection.

IGNATY DVORETSKY

Igory Dvoretzky entered Soviet dramaturgy as the founder of the production trend. His play "The Man From Outside" produced by director Anatoly Biron over a decade ago on the stage of the Moscow Drama Theatre on Malaya Bronnaya was a resounding triumph. The public went in hordes to see the play whose action unfolded in a tawdry shop, whose heroes conducted purely business discussions and decided important production matters. They started to talk about it and in the pages of the papers and magazines entire discussions unfolded. Taking part in the discussions were people of the theatre and leaders of production, sociologists and engineers.

Ignaty Dvoretzky entered dramaturgy from journalism. He was a sketch writer, and in the line of duty had to travel a lot around the country — he visited major construction projects and met most interesting people. It was there that he set the basis for his future plays, the meetings became the basis for the plot of his plays.

He writes about a factory, with whose life he was familiar for many years — "The Man From Outside", about Balkan fishermen with whom he worked — "Great Agitation", and about the builders at a road to the North where he lived, "A Highway"...

The basis is indispensable for a dramatist to build on it his concept of the world and man. A "contemporary chronic" is how one may determine the main quality of the plays by Dvoretzky.

Recently the Maleye Bronnaya Theatre mounted the premiere of his new play "The Theatre Director" produced by Anatoly Bires.

Nadejda KUBOVA

A genuine work of art is evident only when the unity of thought and views emerges in this collective. He notes the difficulty and slowness of the process of rapprochement and reaching an understanding between two talented people — producer and director, who work together.

The play "The Theatre Director" aroused different opinions and estimates among both the viewers and art critics. As a matter of fact, this is not surprising for the joint works of such artists as Dvoretzky and Bires.

HYPNOSIS AND PAINTING

An unusual exposition has been held in the Moscow Region town of Kaliningrad. Pictures on show were made by the members of a group of art students on whom hypnosis was used. The people who painted are far from being professional artists, they are technical schools' students, physicians or mathematicians. The studio is led by Vsevolod Rakov.

He is a psychotherapist. He has been doing with hypnosis for many years. His work in the field is well known both in this country and abroad. He is also a professionally trained artist. Rakov has long since been interested in the problem of hypnotic influence upon the development of one's creative activity. Huge possibilities were discovered in the process: it turned out that hypnosis helps to discover such resources in people which have not been suspected and which could not therefore be implemented. The range of this work's practical results is certainly great for in every new case the success depends on the degree of suggestion and on the person's gift but the main thing is that the result is always positive. All those who are susceptible to suggestion register as if in their physical, intellectual and spiritual state, their creative potential becoming more active.

Image of this method in teaching fine arts is Rakov's favorite experiment, but hypnosis can be applied virtually in all types of human activity linked to thinking: any art complex scientific problems, learning foreign languages.

The experience gathered at the studio and the results obtained by its students have received the recognition of both professional painters and of scientists who specialize in hypnosis.

FACTS and EVENTS

The Bolshoi Theatre of the USSR has shown a new production of Glinka's ballet "Raymonda". In the main roles are Bolshoi soloists Nelyubina, Semenov, Gediminas Tarasevicius and Alexander Bogatyrev. The author of the new version and director is the chief choreographer of the Bolshoi Theatre Yury Grigorovich.

Artistic exchange with France continues

The Moscow Musical Chamber Theatre has begun its tour of France with a production of Dmitry Shostakovich's opera, "The Nose", in Paris. From there the company will go to Nancy to participate in the "Theatre of Nations" festival. One of the theatre's latest productions, "Rostov Action", based on a work by Dmitry Roslavsky, a prominent Russian cultural worker of the 17th century, will also be performed during the tour which represents a continuation of the many-year-old traditional cultural exchange between our two countries.

The present season has got off to an auspicious start: the Moscow Classical Ballet Ensemble and the Igor Moiseyev Ensemble of Folk Dance of the USSR have only recently ended

A FILM ABOUT MIKLUKHO-MAKLAI

The new two-part TV serial, "Miklukho-Maklai", which is now being filmed at the Odessa Film Studios, will deal with ten years of the life and scientific activity of this well-known Russian scientist, humanist, traveller and public figure, Yuri Solomin, a popular cinema and dramatic actor, both directs and plays the role of Miklukho-Maklai.

Our film continues a series of other works about the life of remarkable personalities, like savants. We are trying to reconstruct a truthful picture of Miklukho-Maklai's character, showing his patriotism, talent and energy, from our study of specialist literature, letters, memoirs, records about Miklukho-Maklai from entries in his diary.

The main episodes of the film — concerning Miklukho-Maklai's stay in New Guinea and Australia — will be shot on the sunny shores of the Crimea.

Rules of antiquity did not fit.

Uzbek scholars established that the book was written in Shiraz. In the 18th century the manuscript was given a lease of life in Samarkand. It was fully restored and so skillfully that the layer of paper made locally, applied to might only be noticed only with the help of a magnifying glass.

The miniatures of the Samarkand manuscript will adorn the "Album for the Works of Nature", prepared for publication in Tashkent.

NEW LIFE OF BAMBI

Yuri Nagibin's book "Bambi" went through 15 editions. It is a free translation of the fairytale by Austrian writer F. Salten, which many generations of readers have taken fancy to. The audience remember well the famous animated cartoon "Bambi" by American producer Walt Disney. Now at the Gorky Central Studios Nataleye Bondarchuk turned to the script by Yuri Nagibin, based on the book "Bambi". The film will consist of two parts, the first —

"Childhood of Bambi" is almost ready.

We were attracted not by aimless kindness, indifferent to the object of study but by what makes men purer, stronger and more considerate to the priceless and ever diminishing treasures of the world, say Yuri Negibin.

Animals are part and parcel of nature. They are just as necessary for the life in the world, like water, the sun and air.

WHAT IS NEW IN SOVIET JEWISH LITERATURE

The last poems of Ovsei Driz (1908-1971), a well-known Soviet Jewish poet, have been included in a new collection of his verse published in Yiddish by the Sovetskoye Piatetsel Publishers.

Driz's poetry is widely read in the USSR. His first works appeared in the middle of the twenties and were highly praised by critics. Especially popular are his poems and fairy tales for children, which have been translated many times into the languages of the Soviet peoples. The poet is also known as the author of scripts for animated cartoons and plays for children.

The book of verse by Driz is but one of many new titles in Soviet Jewish literature. This year the Sovetskoye Piatetsel publishing house will bring out a Yiddish collection of poetry by Iosif Bulakhovitsh and Avrom Vergella, for example, as well as novels, essays and stories by Irmach Drucker, Lev Kvitko, and Iosif Miller and others.

Over the past three years Moscow publishers have issued more than 40 books in Yiddish and in translation from Yiddish to total edition of more than 800,000 copies.

BUSINESS

USSR-GDR Big Commission

The 34th session of the Inter-governmental Commission for Economic and Scientific-Technological cooperation between the USSR and the GDR has taken place in Moscow.

Guided to its work by the clauses of a statement recently issued at the top-level economic meeting of CMEA member-countries, and by the agreements reached during the official visit to the USSR of a Parliamentary delegation from the GDR in May, 1983, the commission determined new trade and cooperation between the two countries. Matters linked to the further expansion of cooperation and to improving its efficiency were considered. Other matters discussed were main trends in the development of science, technology and production for the period up to 2000.

Great attention was paid to expansion of production and to raising the quality of consumer goods.

Agreement was reached on further cooperation measures in the development of the agro-industrial complex, including capacities for storing fruit and vegetables and for processing potatoes.

Cooperation within CMEA

Closer interaction between the Soviet Union and other CMEA member-states is a powerful factor of the socio-economic development of Bulgaria, Bulgarian foreign trade deputy minister Georgi Primakov told our correspondent. The large scale and dynamic cooperation within the CMEA framework helps still further upgrade the country's economy and successfully solve the problems of the construction of a mature socialist society.

The steady increase in trade between CMEA members in the past years has a special significance against the background of the stagnation of the world economy, he stressed. This is evidence of the dynamic expansion of cooperation between the CMEA members. A range of new forms of economic cooperation are being introduced.

In 1984 Bulgaria's trade with other CMEA nations will grow by over ten per cent to top 15,000 million roubles.

For a climate of trust

French business circles are showing great interest in the further expansion of trade and economic links with the Soviet Union which help strengthen the climate of trust between the two countries.
